Code of Conduct

Respect each other's privacy & confidentiality.

This is a safe space for everybody.

One person speaks at a time.

If you are at all uncomfortable, please approach facilitators during the break. Everybody is free to leave this space if they feel it is necessary.

Everybody is entitled to their own opinion and experience- none of these are wrong.

If you disagree with what someone has shared, you are welcome to share your own perspective, however, please be respectful, generous and supportive. Everyone else might put us down, peers encourage and support each other.

The right to disclose personal history is entirely personal. No one has the right to force anyone else to answer questions or prove experience.

There are no dumb questions and nobody should be judged for asking about things they don't know.

Everyone has the right to expect that what they say today will not be repeated outside of this forum and attributed to them.

It is assumed that all participants are both current illicit drug users AND Aboriginal / Torres Strait Islander. If there has been some confusion and for some reason this is not you, please take the opportunity in the break to leave this workshop.
